

Portfolio Management Tool

Many young and nimble companies have hijacked long entrenched industry dinosaurs by changing the rules of the game. They partnered with fast and agile partners who delivered valuable services in core competencies.

There is no value in delivering services not considered essential to your core business.

The internet can be an extremely valuable tool in any industry. E-volve harnesses the power of the internet to provide our clients with a detailed look at their maintenance portfolios.

This portfolio management tool enables you to:

- compare which building needs attention
- determine which system is performing well

Solucore is the only company that can provide owners with the ability to review the equipment history over the life of the contract and equipment.

Our software will give you the ability to review the equipment's performance as often as you need and anytime you need to. We give you the ability to monitor the state of the maintenance and callbacks.

Our database "farming tool" will provide you with information on:

- callbacks
- government maintenance requirement
- government report status
- consultant report status
- mean time between call
- total uptime
- peak hour performance
- total hours spent versus required
- equipment related calls
- benchmarking
- and many more...
